LUNDBECK BOYS ACCUSED OF HI-JACKING

George and Walter Roberts, well-known residents of Lundbeck, were arrested on Monday, charged with hi-jacking. The charge as laid on the information and complaint of one Edward Gay, of Fernie, prefers that at or near Brocket on the night of Friday, the 27th of May, being armed with an offensive weapon, they did rob the said Edward Gay of a quantity of liquor, his property, contrary to the provisions of the criminal code of Canada.

According to the evidence submitted at the preliminary hearing on Monday in the Blaimore court house, Gay was travelling east with a load of twenty cases of liquor, being shipped from Fernie to Montana, via Coutts-Sweet Grass. At a point just west of Brocket he was followed by a car flaring one light. At the top of the Brocket hill, this car took a detour to pass Gay and gradually increased the distance between them on the main highway. Around a curve about three miles east, the advance car was found across the road, with two masked men at foot to hold up Gay. At the point of a gun Gay was stopped and while covered by one man, another proceeded to remove his load of liquor to the roadside, while still two others appeared to be replacing a tire on the bandit car. The cargo removed, the bandit car was drawn up and the liquor placed therein. Before proceeding west, the hold-ups pushed Gay's car into the ditch and disconnected the fuse wiring, so that it would be impossible for the car to be operated for a time. Another car was seen to move in from the darkness to the south side of the road, without lights and bearing one man. It is believed that the liquor was next transferred to this car and the holdups proceeded west by the main trail. An Indian happened along on horseback. Gay engaged the Indian to take him to the nearest point of telephone communication, the C. P.R. depot, from where he called the A. P. Police detachment at Pincher Creek, advising Const. Cawsey that if he would proceed to the main trail going east from Pincher Station he might intercept something worth while, as a car was bound west from Brocket with liquor. Gay mentioned nothing of the holdup, but gave a description of the car. Cawsey was immediately on the job, and accompanied by Mr. W. Foote, went to Pincher Station and proceeded east. Near Maunsell's crossing, a car showing one light was seen approaching. Cawsey transferred the wheel to Mr. Foote and stood on the running board ready for action. The other car stopped for a moment, then started up, increasing speed as it approached the constable who stood in the road and ordered "stop." As no heed appeared to have been given, the car sped by and Cawsey halted same with a shot at a back tire. The car was found to contain the two accused, but no liquor. They were allowed to proceed and the car was later identified by Gay in a garage at Cowley.

Up to the time of going to press, the third car and liquor have not been located. Roberts brothers were represented by Mr. McKenna, of Pincher Creek; Sergt. Duncan, of the A.P.P., conducting the prosecution. Bail was allowed in the sum of $1500 each, but up to the present, one of the accused has been unable to secure bondsmen. The preliminary was heard by Magistrate Gresham, and the case comes up for trial at the next sitting of the district court, which will likely be around the latter part of July.

The regular monthly competition for the ladies of the Blaimore Golf Club will be held on Saturday, June 4th, commencing at 2.30 p.m.

JAMES PATTERSON LAID TO REST

The funeral of the late James Patterson took place on Sunday afternoon last and was one of the largest ever held in Blaimore.

The late Mr. Patterson was widely known throughout the Pass district and from all quarters came expressions of sympathy in his demise. Only a few weeks prior to his illness he had undergone examination successfully for papers to operate low pressure boilers, as required under the provincial regulations, hoping to follow his occupation for a considerable time yet, but God willed otherwise and called him hence to a greater service.

Six of the seven sons, namely, William, John, Samuel, Robert, George and Endley, and two daughters, Mrs. Stitt and Mrs. McKinnon, were present for the last rites.

An impressive service was conducted at the home by Rev. W. T. Young, pastor of the United Church, where fitting tributes were paid to the high sterling character of the deceased and the splendid example set by him that might well be followed by those wishing to live a good christian life, right with his fellow man and his God.

At 3.30 the procession formed up near the home, headed by the hearses and a number of cars with chief mourners, followed by members of the local unit of the Mine Workers of Canada and citizens generally.

A large truck conveyed floral tokens of sympathy and included the following: "Gates Ajar," from Mother and Boys; wreaths, sprays, etc., Mae and Janie, Mr. and Mrs. J. McPhail, F. S. Kafoury and family, Blaimore Branch Canadian Legion, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Griesbach, Jack and Maggie Patterson, Sister Janet and family, Mr. and Mrs. Stitt, Rev. W. T. Young and family, Mr. and Mrs. McVey and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Barnhill and Bob, Mr. and Mrs. John Angus McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. W. Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Morgan, Mine Workers Union of Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sartoris, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stevenson, West Canadian Collieries Ltd., Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Pilfold and Mrs. M. A. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Robert, Blaimore Lodge No. 68, I.O.O.F., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pinkney, Crowview Rebekah Lodge No. 66, Bill, Hester and family, Miss Emma Kidd, Mr. J. R. MacDonald (Oranbrook, B.C.), Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ennis, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Howe, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. McKay, and Officials of Greenhill Mine.

At the graveside brief services were said by Rev. W. T. Young and Mr. T. J. Williams, as chaplain of the local miners' union.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Patterson and family desire to tender their thanks to their many friends for floral expressions of sympathy with them in their bereavement and to those who so kindly lent cars for the funeral.

A feature of the evening's programme will be the famous sketch, "The Blaimore Henspecked Hollow Sewing Circle." All Sisters are requested to be at the hall at 7 o'clock sharp.

JUBILEE CELEBRATION COMMITTEE MEETING

Practically the full general committee in charge of arrangements for the celebration on July 1st and 2nd of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation, was in attendance at the Elks' Hall on Thursday night last, when matters in connection with the programme were more fully dealt with.

The nominator of Mr. W. I. Hutton by the Elks Lodge as a member of the general committee was accepted.

Mr. Royle informed the committee that the Bellevue West Canadian Band would be in attendance during the two days.

The Blaimore Victoria Street bandstand was decided upon as the saluting point for the parade of the 1st, and will be suitably decorated, to be occupied during the parade by His Worship Mayor Farmer and other speakers.

Quite a number of organizations promised to be represented in the float parade, including Harry Griesbach's broncho and go-cart.

The following suggested program was practically adopted in its entirety and will be in charge of the following committee: Mr. Gillis, Rev. W. T. Young, Mr. W. T. June 7th, at 8 o'clock.

- (A) "O Canada! Our Home and Native Land!"
True patrio-love in all thy sons command,
With glowing hearts we see thee rise,
The True North, strong and free,

The Other Fellow's Viewpoint

In this year of Canada's Diamond Jubilee, when the thoughts of its people are being turned backward sixty years and they contemplate the truly marvelous change that has taken place, one great lesson, and the outstanding achievement of Confederation, stands out prominently. A review of the years clearly demonstrates that Canada's material growth and development have been made possible because, to an ever increasing extent as the years have passed, the people of the Dominion have cultivated a spirit of good-will toward each other.

Confederation had many obstacles to remove, many difficulties to overcome, physical, geographical, financial, but the one problem that had to be solved, and failing which all others could not be surmounted, was to achieve a union of the two races, French and English speaking, to create a feeling of respect and toleration for each other on the part of Roman Catholic and Protestant. To a large extent this has been accomplished, and to it Canada today owes its strength and prosperity.

The citizenship of Canada can render no more fitting or valuable service to their country, can make no greater Jubilee contribution to its welfare and progress, than to further develop this spirit of toleration and good-will. Only by so doing can peace be maintained and strife eliminated from our midst; only so can effective co-operation be maintained; in the maintenance and development of such relations alone can be found the essentials of a true national spirit.

Studying conditions in other countries, one is happy to note in Canada today an absence of those suspicions, bitter feelings, and lack of appreciation of the opinions of others, which appear rather general in other lands. This is not to say there is an entire absence of such animosity in Canada. They do prevail to some extent, but the better, nobler, loftier aims of mankind are uppermost.

For example, if the Russian people desire a communist form of government, that is their own business and Canada and Britain have no desire to interfere. But Russia should display the same attitude towards other countries, and not try to subvert the citizens of friendly countries from loyalty to their respective governments. The disclosure that Russia is using the diplomatic immunity accorded her representatives by other countries in an endeavor to overthrow their forms of government is revolting to every sense of decency and fairplay.

While deploping some of the methods adopted to promote national feeling in China, one cannot but sympathize with the aspirations of the Chinese people. Foreign rights must be respected in China as in other countries, but there should be no interference in China's right to itself determine its national life and forms of government. One can perhaps better appreciate and sympathize with the Chinese viewpoint if we could visualize Buddhist priests establishing missions throughout Western Canada and opening Sunday schools to teach our children the tenets of the Buddhist religion. Would the Christian churches of Canada acquiesce in this?

Or imagine, whole sections of Vancouver, Victoria, and other cities set aside as Chinese or Japanese concessions wherein their laws governed and their trade was supreme. Would Canadians accept such a state of affairs? Rather, do we not even object to individual Chinese and Japanese competing on even terms with our own people?

Reference is made to these rather strong cases, not to pass judgment in regard to them, but to point the moral of this article, viz., that what is needed in the world today is more sympathy and less bitterness; more tolerance and less prejudice; more respect for and less suspicion of each other; more cooperation and less striving at cross purposes.

And what the whole world needs is what Canada ought, in this Jubilee year, dedicate itself to achieve to the fullest degree for our own people and Dominion. Respect for each other's opinions and convictions, recognition of the other fellow's good qualities, a willingness to meet others half way in the solution of community and national problems, a realization that we all are Canadians with a common interest in the Dominion and its welfare and a common duty and responsibility to it to discharge.

Estevan Coal Fields

New System of Carbonization May be Used
F. A. Oetken, of the Lurgi Corporation, Frankfurt-on-Main, Germany, inventor of the Lurgi system of carbonizing soft coal, and Dr. Frank Mueller, of New York, president of the Lurgi Corporation, who recently visited the Estevan coal fields with the view of possibly installing Lurgi carbonizers there, have been interviewed by Premier Gardiner, Hon. T. C. Davis and Commissioner T. M. Molloy, of the Bureau of Labor and Industries. According to "The Leader," these men declared their belief that the Lurgi process could be used very well in the treatment of the Estevan deposits at a production cost of about $5 per ton.

Writing is Ancient Art

Writing is a very ancient art. The oldest form of which there are existing examples are Babylonians and Egyptians. The Babylonians are uncertain, that is, the characters are wedge-shaped. They were written on clay, and the clay was baked into bricks, which formed permanent records, many of which have been unearthed and interpreted.

Plows With Manless Tractor

Spectators Marvel at Machine Used in Test Near Lincoln, Nebraska
A "manless" tractor, controlled by an electric device, plowed a field in Nebraska successfully before a crowd of farmers, professors of agriculture and business men.

Controlled by a human hand, except when the first furrow was plowed to make a guide row, the machine, equipped with an automatic guide invented by F. L. Zibach, of Grand Island, Neb., plowed a 20-acre field on the College of Agriculture farm of the University of Nebraska, near Lincoln.

The tractor runs in an irregular circle, rounding the corners. Except for replenishing the gasoline and oil, it needs no attention. The electric control stops the machine should it leave the furrow, and when the work is completed.

The traction first was tried in 1921, Zibach said. Tiring of riding a plow, he attached his device to his tractor, filled the machine with gasoline and turned it loose.

Swollen Joints, Quickly Limbered Up Rub On Nerviline

You would be surprised at the wonderful action of "Nerviline" in just such cases. Being thin and not an old person, it is able to penetrate quickly, and down it slings into the tissues, carrying its healing, soothing action wherever it goes. For all muscular or nerve pain, for easing a stiff joint, Nerviline is a complete answer. Pain, stiffness, and swelling vanish before the magic power of this wonderful liniment. Nearly fifty years of success proves the merit. Nerviline, which is sold everywhere in large 35 cent bottles.

Ancient Canoe Unearthed
An oak canoe, nine feet long, and estimated to be from four to ten thousand years old, has been unearthed on the south bank of the River Tyne, near Ryton. It is in an excellent state of preservation, and has been placed in the Hancock Museum, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

WEAK, LISTLESS GIRLS

Need Such a Tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to Restore Health

When a girl is young becomes pale and listless, her complexion at the same time shows inclination to become sallow, and her general appearance is that of a weak or sickly girl, she needs Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic which directly and speedily corrects the condition from which she is suffering. A chemical analysis of the blood of such a girl would show it to be deficient in just the elements Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can supply. But an analysis of her blood is not needed—the physical signs are plain. Among these signs are a pallor of the cheeks and lips, dark circles under the eyes, easily tired and breathless after slight exertion. Poor appetite, headache, and sometimes fainting spells follow; often the patient is nervous and is startled at the least noise. In all these run-down conditions there is no other tonic will build you up so quickly and so surely as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The statement of Miss Dorothy Lambert, Bush Island, N.S., will bring home to other weak girls. She says: "I wish my poor blood could persuade every person who is in a run-down condition to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. About a year ago I was a weak girl suffering from impoverished blood and a run-down system, with many of the attendant symptoms. I had often read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to take them, and after using six boxes I feel as well and strong as ever. Dr. Williams' Pink-Pills will be my standby in the future if ever my blood needs building up again, and I shall always find pleasure in recommending them to my friends, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

Scientists are endeavoring to determine when civilization began. They might also put in a little time determining when it is going to begin again.

Spend Ninety-Eight Birthday in Prison

"Life" Who Refused Pardon Has Served Twenty-Seven Years
"Old Charlie" Lindwall, the oldest prisoner in Joliet Penitentiary and possibly the oldest in the country, observed his ninety-eighth birthday just as he had observed every milestone since 1900 and he probably will observe every anniversary until he receives the pardon of death.

Lindwall, sentenced to the penitentiary for life in 1900 for murder, which he always denied committing, refused pardon a few years ago, maintaining he was too old to face the world. At the time he was sentenced the Court told him that his age alone had saved him from the gallows. Since then the Judge and most of the jurors have died, but "Old Charlie," half blind, feeble and bowed with his years, has clung tenaciously to life. He putters around the prison yard with no guard molesting him and no prisoner intruding upon his dreaming. At chapel services and for the weekly movie "Old Charlie" has a favored seat in the front row.

Machines Take Laborer's Place

Combines Do Work of Harvest Hands in U. S. Great Belt

Combines—squat, whirling machines that creep slowly across the limitless acres of waving wheat—will this summer do the work of 25,000 harvest hands, hitherto imported each year from the east and north.

Therefore this season fewer colts boys will earn money to pay for next year's schooling by shocking grain behind clanking bladders or plugging grain from the header into manure-filled threshers, and fewer thousands of men will converge in Kansas, in June, to spread over the country like locusts to live off the harvest.

The large combine, drawn by a tractor, cuts a 16-foot swath, threshes and sacks the grain and spreads the straw in its wake, "all in one operation. One man drives the tractor, another runs the combine, and a third man hauls the sacked grain to the elevator in a truck. By this system the farmer can harvest 50 to 75 acres a day against 20 acres a day under the old system when he had 20 harvest hands, who had to be fed and provided with lodgings.

Could Not Disclose Secret

Pioneer Mind Reader Unable to Explain Strange Power

Anna Eva Pay, pioneer mind reader of the stage, is dead. And the secret by means of which for nearly half a century she puzzled, thrilled audiences, kings, queens, men of letters and psychologists, goes with her to the grave. She died at her home in Melrose, Mass. When the eyes of the aged woman closed for the last time she still had withheld explanation of how she had been able to tell her patrons and acquaintances with baffling accuracy time and again what was going on in their minds. She insisted that she herself didn't know how she did it.

The Good Old Days

A trip to the Old Country by aircraft in 2 1/2 days is now a probability; one can talk on the telephone and see the thousands of miles away; the best music in the world can be picked out of the air by the mysterious device known as the radio, and messages are sent into remote regions by the same means; disease is being conquered and labor lightened by machinery—and still they talk of "the good old days."—Farmer's Advocate.

Our Canadian Climate

Nothing to Complain about When Compared With Other Countries. Snow and sleet and late seeding in the West, with cool showers in the East have set the pessimists to croaking about "Canada's late spring." But in the meantime these headlines were appearing in the press:

"Mississippi Floods; Thousands Homeless."
"Cyclone Hits Sydney; Heavy Damage."
"Deluge at Aden."
"Chile Volcanoes Active."
"Mediterranean Storm."
"Illinois Cyclone."
"Earthquake in the Philippines."
"Tornado Sweeps Kansas."

So, after all, Canada is not so bad. Our winters may be rigorous, and our springs sometimes dubious, but taken all in all, and compared with other countries, our climate is as blessed as perhaps any in the world.

Progress of Sixty Years

Will be Strikingly Featured in Diamond Jubilee Celebration

It has been well observed that there could be few greater illustrations of the progress of sixty years in the realm of science than that afforded by one of the chief features in the celebration of the Diamond Jubilee. It is announced that the music of the great carillon of bells to be installed at Ottawa will be broadcast by radio to all parts of the world, and that the words of King George in reply to the playing of the National Anthem will be heard in Canada only three-one hundredths of a second after they are uttered by his majesty in London, England. It is certainly a marvelous triumph of scientific invention.

Miller's Worm Powders are the medicine for children who are found suffering from the ravages of worms. They immediately alter the stomachic conditions under which the worms subsist and drive them from the system, and at the same time, they are tonic in their effect upon the digestive organs, restoring to him the healthful operation and ensuring immunity from further disorders from such a cause.

Work of Colonization Associations

Expect to Locate 2,000 Families in West This Spring

April was the record month of the Canadian Colonization Association when 110 families were settled upon 29,932 acres of land in the Prairie Provinces. This followed the previous best in March when 78 families were placed upon 18,105 acres. Altogether in the first four months of 1927 some 259 immigrant families have been placed on 68,905 acres of land, previously idle, almost equally in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. By June 1st it is expected that they will be 2,000 families on 550,000 acres of land in Western Canada wards of the Association. As families average 5.7 individuals to the family this will mean the satisfactory farm placement of about 11,000 persons through the efforts of the Association.

Heart Palpitation Dizzy, Sinking Spells

Mrs. M. A. Gagnon, Donville, Alta., writes: "Some time ago I was very nervous, could not sleep at night, often had dizzy, sinking spells and palpitation of the heart, and was so run down I could not do my housework, but just have everything and sit down."

I spent a lot of money using medicine from the doctor, but it did not do me any good.

REQUIRE A YEAR LONGER TO REACH PORT CHURCHILL

Ottawa.—Completion of the Hudson Bay Railway by May of next year if the terminal is to be Port Nelson but about a year later if it should be Port Churchill, was forecast by Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of railways. He told of how the work is progressing both as regards putting the existing line in shape for operation and also the new construction. The headway being made is considered very satisfactory.

As between Churchill and Nelson, the minister expressed no preference, stating the decision will be based upon the best expert advice obtainable. Mr. Dunning will accompany the British engineer, Frederick Palmer, to both places at the end of July, and a number of his officials will also go along. Meanwhile, preliminary data is being collected while the investigation is under conditions on the straits is under way.

"There is no rivalry between the two potential terminals," Mr. Dunning said, "because there is no population to agitate. At Nelson a caretaker and a few others are about the only white residents while at Churchill there is only a few. The Canadian Mounted Police post. A large development, however, is foreseen when the line is finished."

Should the line go to Churchill, the road will not be completed into Nelson but defecting at a point 95 miles from there.

Meanwhile, a big rush to the north country is reported by prospectors, farmers, hunters, trappers and all sorts of people attracted by the lure of the district. It has been necessary to put on a regular weekly service in place of the wayfarers being accommodated on the construction trains.

It also is announced by the Minister of Railways that the formalities have just been concluded for absorbing the Grand Trunk Pacific into the Canadian National Railways for corporate as well as operating purposes. The debenture holders all have agreed to the arrangement, whereby their old securities were exchanged for the new ones authorized by Parliament last session. This adjustment removes a long standing grievance.

Better Labor Conditions

Ship-building on Clyde Creates Demand For Men

London.—In a little over four months the number of unemployed workers in the Clyde district has dropped by one third. The improvement is mainly due to increased activity in ship-building and marine engineering. There has even been a shortage of labor for some urgent jobs, and employers have shown readiness to accept apprentices, a condition that has not been apparent for years.

Ottawa.—"Our grandchildren may even live to see the sea Empire transferred to our shores," declared Dr. J. H. "The future of our Dominion," he continued, "is on the whole bright with promise."

Would Send Boys to Canada

Man Has Scheme for Community Settlement in Dominion

Montreal.—Canada is the country to which the late of Man is looking for the settlement of her youth, said J. B. Crookall, J.P., mayor of Douglas, and member of the House of Keys, who reached Montreal on the White Star liner Doris. Every year the late of Man has about 400 boys leaving school at the age of 14. A proposal is afoot to raise the leaving age to 15, following which the island authorities would give them a course of training for one year to fit them for emigration. Mayor Crookall hoped that Maxmussen in Canada would interest themselves in this project.

The mayor outlined a scheme he had for the community settlement of Maxmussen in Canada. He proposed to send out 100 families if the Dominion Government would set aside a tract of land sufficient to provide for them, making the terms as easy as possible. About 80 per cent. of these families would be agricultural.

The P. K. monoplane "America," which also was "bitten to the post" in the Paris flight by Charles Lindbergh, may and may not try the Hawaii flight, it was said.

The Favored Country

British Labor Leader Says Emigrants' Opportunities in Canada Best in World

London.—Canada contains greater possibilities than any other country in the world for the emigrant. The kind of immigration is regulated so as not to displace the existing workers. In the opinion of C. T. Cramp, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, who has just returned from a tour of the Dominion.

Mr. Cramp was struck by the "revolt of Canadian organized labor against the domination of American unions" and the similar movement among professional associations. Canadian railways also come in for eulogistic reference from Mr. Cramp.

New York Financier Dies

Payne Whitney, One of America's Richest Men, Victim of Heart Attack

Manhattan, N.Y.—Payne Whitney, financier, philanthropist, sportsman and one of the richest men in the country, died of a heart attack while playing tennis at his country estate, Greentree.

Mr. Whitney was 52 years old. He was the brother of Harry Payne Whitney, son of the late William C. Whitney, secretary of Navy under Cleveland. Estimates of the Whitney estate ranged in Wall Street from $100,000,000 to $400,000,000. In 1924 he paid an income tax of more than $2,000,000. Only John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Henry Ford, paying more.

About 150 delegates are expected to be in attendance.

Winnipeg.—An aeroplane passenger and freight service to the central Manitoba mine area was inaugurated on June 1. It marks the first commercial air service to operate in the province. Western Airways confirmed its operations last year to the Red Lake district of Northern Ontario.

Experiment Was a Failure

New Zealand Lost Heavily in Attempt to Control Price of Butter

Wellington.—New Zealand's failure to control the price of butter on the London market and the boycott by London buyers of more than a million boxes, or roughly, 55,000,000 pounds, that were allowed to accumulate in cold storage in Britain in April, have been factors in the shortage of butter supplies in Canada during the past five months.

The action of British merchants in buying butter from Argentina, Australia and Canada, while leaving New Zealand's price-controlled stocks severely alone, withdrew from Canada heavy supplies that normally would have been available for home requirements. It is said here.

As a result, Canadian butter dealers have been scrambling for immediate requirement for months, picking up stray stocks here, there and everywhere, some being brought back from London, some from Quebec, some imported from the United States and a total of about seven million pounds shipped direct from New Zealand.

The lateness of the season in Canada has also been a factor in the shortage here, spring production being about a month later than usual.

RUSSIAN TRADE AGREEMENT IS TO BE ABROGATED

Ottawa.—The Government has decided to terminate immediately the trade agreement with Russia, it was announced following a lengthy meeting of the cabinet council.

Premier King, in making the announcement, declared this action had been decided upon after a full discussion of the situation created through the decision of the British Government to sever its relations with Soviet Russia. Evidence in the hands of the Canadian Government made it clear, the Premier said, that certain sections of the agreement between Canada and Russia had been violated by the Russian Government. Premier King pointed out that the agreement was subject to termination unless certain conditions were fulfilled. He specifically quoted a provision agreed to refrain "from hostile action" or "undertakings against the other and from conducting outside of its own borders any official propaganda direct or indirect against the interests of the British Empire or the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics respectively."

Premier Baldwin's statement in the British House of Commons, and evidence, before Canadian Government, had made it clear, the Premier said, that this agreement had been violated.

Premier King stated emphatically that termination of trade agreements would not mean discontinuation of trade between Canada and Russia. It would mean that certain quasi-diplomatic privileges enjoyed by the Russian trade commission would be terminated, but every effort would be continued to further trade between Canada and Russia. In the same manner in which Canadian trade relations with other nations were conducted.

The Premier said evidence in the hands of the Canadian Government does not disclose any espionage or subversive propaganda so far as the Montreal office of the Russian trade commission is concerned.

WOULD DEVELOP CANADIAN TRADE WITH BRITAIN

London.—"I am here to visit Canadian trade commissioners in Britain and on the continent and to acquaint myself more fully with the possibilities the markets here offer for Canadian products," Hon. James Macleod, Canadian minister of trade and commerce, told newspapermen in an interview. He added that he was more particularly desirous of increasing inter-imperial trade, of which he had been a constant advocate.

The minister mentioned the grant of $100,000 made by the Canadian government for advertising Canadian goods in Britain. To secure the best means of applying the money was an important object of his visit, he said.

Macleod acknowledged that the figures of Canadian trade with Britain lately had shown a decrease, through the lessened ability of Britain to purchase Canadian products, although Canadian purchases from Britain showed a slight increase. He believed adequate publicity would soon help to correct the balance. There was, always, he said, some unreliability about statistics and they did not invariably show the exact position of trade between two countries like Canada and Britain.

Trade With U.S.

Canada Regarded by U.S. as Best Outside Field for Investment

Detroit, Mich.—Business of the United States made an eloquent case of admiration for its neighbor to the north when the National Foreign Trade Convention turned over an entire session to Canada and Canadians.

Speakers with only one exception were Canadians. They spoke of their great commerce in hard wheat and pulpwood, of their other export trade and of the growing interest of Americans in Canada as attested by their investment of $2,600,000,000 within the Dominion. Sixty per cent. of all foreign investments in Canada came from the United States, the convention was told by Case R. Hord, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, New York.

"We take it as a compliment," he added, "that Canada is regarded in the United States as the best outside field of investment, and we interpret it as an indication of the estimate placed by the United States upon the character and ability of Canadians."

Agree on Claims

Washington.—The British and United States governments have agreed on a settlement of mutual claims and those of individuals against both governments for seizure of war-time shipping, but terms of the settlement are being withheld, pending an arrangement for publication of final notes ratifying the pact. The claims grew out of detention and search during the war on shipping of both countries suspected of carrying war supplies to the enemy.

Montreal.—Ernest Vierkoster, Germany's foremost swimmer and conqueror of the English Channel, arrived in Montreal. He will participate in the Lake George swim for a prize of $10,000 and later go to Toronto, where he will take part in the $50,000 race to be held in Lake Ontario off the Queen City during the summer.

Investigating Plan to Use Sulphite Wastage

Scientists See Possibility of Making Substitute for Gasoline

Ottawa.—Canadian scientists are investigating the possibility of the manufacture of a substitute for gasoline out of the wastage in the numerous sulphite mills throughout the Dominion, it was revealed at a meeting of the associate committee of physics and engineering of the National Research Council of Canada here.

The sulphite mills, it was declared, in the manufacture of pulp for newspaper are wasting at the same time tremendous quantities of liquor which is a potential source of alcohol. Properly designed motors have been found to generate efficiently on a mixture of alcohol and benzene.

The committee also recommended today that the national research council invite the steps to secure detailed information on the measurement of the ultra-violet rays given off by the sun. If it can be shown that great benefit is to be obtained from these rays then, it is recommended, that special glass should be universally used in Canadian homes and other buildings. The health giving ultra-violet rays do not, to any great extent, pass through ordinary window glass.

Building New Telegraph Line

Work Will Commence at Once in Northern Saskatchewan District

North Battleford.—Construction is to proceed on a telegraph line between Lone Lake and Meadow Lake. The distance is 55 to 60 miles. The line will serve to link up the Meadow Lake community with the splendid farming sections farther west. It will be a means of communication for these northern people with the outside world, something they have not at present. On representation being made to the department by the Federal member an appropriation of $8,000 was put through Parliament for the building of the line. The government is ready to act at once on the building of the line. The offices to be established on the line will be set up just as soon as possible.

Great Interest Being Taken in Eclipse

English Railways Will Run Special Trains to Vantage Points

London.—The eclipse of the sun which will be observed by a portion of England, June 15, is arousing such interest that railway and motor bus companies are preparing to carry thousands of excursionists to the favored belt across England where the view will be best. More than 100 special trains and hundreds of motor buses will carry their passengers to the biggest open air party ever known in England. Most of the participants expect to arrive at vantage points around midnight.

WILL OBSERVE LUNAR ECLIPSE IN FAR NORTH

New York, N.Y.—The outposts of civilization in the Canadian Arctic wilderness have been asked by radio to aid the Harvard University Observatory in observing on June 15 the first lunar eclipse since 1892. Observers in the northern country in the region of Chesterford Inlet, Bear Lake, Rampart House and Good Hope had a message of instruction broadcast to them recently.

Directions for the observation of this rare lunar phenomenon, addressed to members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, representatives of the Hudson's Bay Company and Revillon Freres Trading Company, and the Oblate missionary fathers among the Eskimos, was broadcast in part as follows:

"A total eclipse of the moon will occur on June 15, 1927, the centre of the eclipse being at 2:24 a.m. Eastern Standard Time. The sun and moon will both be nearly on the horizon on the day and hour mentioned, at the points to which this message is addressed."

"It is of great scientific interest to know as exactly as possible what the weather conditions are at that particular time at points near this line. Baker Lake is the most important point of all and the observers would appreciate any special efforts to procure observations there."

According to Dr. Willard J. Fisher, of Harvard, it should be possible of this year to determine the details of the earth's shadow very near to the edge of the earth.

ACTIVITIES OF SOVIET AGENTS COME TO LIGHT

London.—It was stated in official circles that the names of hundreds of persons in Great Britain, including a number of members of Parliament, as well as persons more or less known in North America and other parts of the world, in addition to those published in the white paper, have come to the hands of the Government during its investigation of alleged Soviet activities.

So far as is known, the names of the members of the Parliament will not be made public, as it is understood the Government had intention of taking what cabinet members consider advantage of their special information to further their case against the Russians.

In parliamentary lobby circles, however, it is thought likely the names may be made known to the leaders, which fact may have more or less bearing on the situation generally may be used as a check upon certain members of the House of Commons in sections inclined to oppose the Government's moves and decisions.

A Government spokesman attributed several Australian shipping strikes in the last two years solely to Soviet agents, who, he said, went to that country to spread propaganda, stir up trouble and further Moscow's aims.

The British Government made good its promise to publish some of the 16 documents alleged to have been uncovered in the recent sensational raid on Soviet House, in London, headquarters of the Soviet trade delegation, and Arcos, Limited, the Russian commercial organization.

It issued a department by the Federal member an appropriation of $8,000 was put through Parliament for the building of the line. The government is ready to act at once on the building of the line. The offices to be established on the line will be set up just as soon as possible.

The most interesting part of the contents from an international list of addresses allegedly found in the possession of Anton Miller, a Soviet cipher clerk, who Premier Baldwin told the House of Commons in his Tuesday's speech, was found hurriedly burning the papers in his office when the raiders appeared.

Want Canada to Attend Air Meeting

Invitation to Attend Inter-American Convention is Suggested

Washington.—Canada will be invited to join other countries on the American continent in an Inter-American flying convention, if the recommendation of Argentina carries the Pan-American congress this year. At the commercial conference, of members of the Pan-American union, just concluded here, the Argentine delegate, Felipe Esplá, recommended that the governing body of the union check the progress of bringing Canada into the flying convention which all republics on this continent have in mind. Mr. Esplá's suggestion was placed in the record and will be considered by the governing board of the Union before the flying convention is concluded.

Great Interest Being Taken in Eclipse

English Railways Will Run Special Trains to Vantage Points

London.—The eclipse of the sun which will be observed by a portion of England on June 8, is arousing great interest that railway and motor bus companies are preparing to carry thousands of excursionists to the favored belt across England where the view will be best. More than 100 special trains and hundreds of motor buses will carry their passengers to the biggest open air party ever known in England. Most of the participants expect to arrive at vantage points around midnight.

WILL OBSERVE LUNAR ECLIPSE IN FAR NORTH

New York, N.Y.—The outposts of civilization in the Canadian Arctic wilderness have been asked by radio to aid the Harvard University Observatory in observing on June 15 the first lunar eclipse since 1892. Observers in the northern country in the region of Chesterfield Inlet, Bear Lake, Rampart House and Good Hope had a message of instruction broadcast to them recently.

Directions for the observation of this rare lunar phenomenon, addressed to members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, representatives of the Hudson's Bay Company and Revillon Freres Trading Company, and the Oblate missionary fathers among the Eskimos, was broadcast in part as follows:

"A total eclipse of the moon will occur on June 15, 1927, the centre of the eclipse being at 2:51 a.m. Eastern Standard Time. The sun and moon will both be nearly on the horizon on the day and hour mentioned, at the posts to which this message is addressed."

"It is of great scientific interest to know as exactly as possible what the weather conditions are at that particular time at points near this line. Baker Lake is the most important point of all and the astronomers would appreciate any special efforts to procure observations there."

According to Dr. Willard J. Fisher, of Harvard, it should be possible this year to determine the density of the earth's shadow very near to the edge of the earth.

ACTIVITIES OF SOVIET AGENTS COME TO LIGHT

London.—It was stated in official circles that the names of hundreds of persons in Great Britain, including a number of members of Parliament, as well as persons more or less known in North America and other parts of the world, in addition to those published in the white paper, have come to the hands of the Government during its investigation of alleged Soviet activities.

So far as is known, the names of the members of the Parliament will not be made public, as it is understood the Government has no intention of jailing what cabinet members consider advantage of their special information to further their case against the Russians.

In parliamentary lobby circles, however, it is thought likely the names may be made known to the leaders, which fact may have more or less bearing on the situation given may be used as a check upon certain sections inclined to oppose the Government's moves and decisions.

A Government spokesman attributed several Australian shipping strikes in the last two years solely to Soviet agents, who, he said, went to that country to spread propaganda, stir up trouble and further Moscow's aims.

The British Government made good its promise to publish some of the 16 documents alleged to have been uncovered in the recent sensational raid on Soviet House in London, headquarters of the Soviet trade delegation, and Arcos, Limited, the Russian commercial organization.

It issued a white paper containing the documents to illustrate, as the captain said, "the hostile activities of the Soviet Government and the third international against Great Britain."

The most interesting part of the contents of an international if not from a British standpoint, is a list of addresses allegedly found in the possession of Anton Miller, a Soviet cipher clerk, who Premier Baldwin told the House of Commons in his Tuesday speech, was found hurriedly burning the papers in his office when the raiders appeared.

Want Canada to Attend Air Meeting

Invitation to Attend Inter-American Convention is Suggested

Washington.—Canada will be invited to join other countries on a list of the American flying convention, if the recommendation of Argentina carries the Pan-American congress this year. At the Canadian standing convention of members of the Pan-American union, just concluded here, the Argentine delegate, Felipe Esplá, recommended that the governing body of the union study ways and means of bringing Canada into the flying convention which all republics on this continent have in mind. Mr. Esplá's suggestion was placed in the record and will be considered by the governing body of the Union before the flying convention is concluded.

Montreal.—Preventive measures taken by provincial and municipal officials to check the spread of the present typhoid fever epidemic working successfully, health authorities claim. It was predicted that within one month the epidemic would be stamped out.

HOW HOME NURSING

SAVED A LIFE

Down in New Brunswick the other day, in one of the country districts where a Red Cross home nursing class had been recently formed and the course finished, a tiny child in a busy farm house died an attractive-looking blue bottle on a shelf. Her mother and grandmother were both occupied with household duties. They did not see what the child was about until she had climbed to the shelf and was drinking from the bottle labelled "carbolic acid." They both ran, and the mother frantically seized the toddler, but already she had swallowed some of the poison. The mother, aghast, was helpless. But the grandmother, who had taken the home nursing instruction, went into action at once. She saw that an emetic was administered, and then as rapidly as possible she poured the whites of several eggs into the now screaming child. When the doctor arrived, he told her she had saved the child's life. Her answer was, "I could have done nothing, but stand and cry if I had not learned from those home nursing classes what to do in such emergencies. They taught me to think instead of cry, and so we have our little girl alive instead of dead. I think that every woman ought to learn what we did, and I wish they could."

So does the Canadian Red Cross, which in the past year has conducted 300 home nursing classes in the provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Ontario, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

In the classes completed over 1000 women or girls—mothers, of families or potential mothers—received this valuable training. Since 1924 when the Red Cross put organizers in a number of the provinces to carry this health knowledge into Canadian homes, nearly 1000 classes have been formed in which over 12,000 women have taken instruction in home nursing. In the province of New Brunswick, where 77 new classes were formed in 1926 by Miss S. Bella Barrington, the organizer, it was necessary to visit 36 localities to deliver 99 addresses, and to travel 5500 miles, of which 1100 were by road, in order to complete this work. Through Miss Barrington's efforts, 41 registered nurses and many doctors gave their services as instructors of the home nursing classes, so that these are now organized in every county of New Brunswick, thereby establishing a record only excelled by the far more populous province of Ontario. In Nova Scotia, Miss E. O. R. Browne, Red Cross organizer, visited 92 in 1926, 36 classes were formed and 650 women completed the instruction in home nursing. Miss B. E. Hamilton, organizer for Ontario, with the assistance of Miss Goodman, in the city of Toronto, visited 62 localities and formed 92 classes. Altogether in Ontario in 1926 there were 104 classes in operation in all parts of the province, with an attendance of 1190 when these were completed, thus bringing the total of those instructed since 1924, when the first group was organized, to 3450 women in 310 classes in Ontario. In Toronto alone, Miss Goodman reports that 168 classes have completed the home nursing course in the past three years, each year seeing from 40 to 45 new classes organized.

In Alberta, where Miss Theodore Taylor is in charge of home nursing with Miss Jasenchuk as assistant in the Ukrainian districts, attendance at the classes is said to be 100 per cent good, and these two instructors, despite many difficulties of travel and unusually severe storms, they formed 31 classes with an attendance of 352 at their completion.

In Saskatchewan, where classes in home nursing have been conducted for only five months in the past year, 23 classes with an enrolment of 272 were completed, while in British Columbia, where home nursing instruction has been increasing in popularity under the tutelage of Miss C. Davidson, the provincial organizer, 44 localities were visited and the figure for 1926 added. Eight hundred and eighty-six women have taken the course in the past two and a half years. A unique feature of the work in British Columbia is the delivery by Miss Davidson of a series of weekly radio talks on home nursing, which have been broadcasted all over the province.

NO CENSUS NEEDED
NOW SAYS MAYOR

Mayor Fred E. Osborne said he did not see any need for the city taking a census of the population so soon after the federal census when he was questioned regarding this matter on Friday morning.

"I can see no argument in favor of taking a census just now," he said. "There is also the question of cost to be taken into consideration." His worship said that it might be advisable to take a census in about two years, this being between the times of the federal censuses. The last federal census was taken a year ago.—Calgary Herald.

ENGLISH COMEDY SUCCESS
COMING TO BLAIRMORE

Theatregoers will be pleased to learn that "French Leave," the much talked about English comedy success, has been secured for one night, Monday, June 13th, and will be presented at the opera house by a company including Peggie Burnand and Frank J. Vyvyan, the latter being one of the English cast which played in the English production.

"French Leave" was first produced and ran for an entire season at the Apollo and Globe theatres, London, and was one of the outstanding successes of recent years. It's a very funny light-comedy, depicting scenes behind the lines—"in billets"—"in France"—"big" without any of the tragedy or serious side of the campaign being introduced into the action.

As one of the great London dailies said: "It is a delicious satire on army rules and discipline, and withal so clear of any bitterness, that even those at whom some of its shafts are aimed, laugh delightedly at the comedy situations so reminiscent of the great campaign."

Playing the two leading characters are Miss Peggie Burnand, formerly of London, and whose recent portrayal of Elinor Beauchamp in "So This is London" will be remembered with pleasure by many local theatregoers. In "French Leave," Peggie plays Mlle. Juliette, whose escapade gets some of the "higher-ups" of the B.E.F. into all kinds of trouble, while as Brig-Gen. Root, C.B., D.S.O., Mr. Frank G. Vyvyan is seen to great advantage in a part with which he is very familiar, having been in the English cast of the same comedy. More recently his masterly portrayal of Sir Percy Beauchamp in "So This is London," during its record making run in Vancouver of ten weeks, and also during the past season on the road, has earned for him the unqualified approval of every critic between here and the Great Lakes—the Winnipeg verdict being, that it was the outstanding performance of many years in that city. His Brig-Gen. Root is said to be a worthy companion to Sir Percy.

A Southern Romance

A man from Maine boarded a street car in the South.
A southerner got up to give a lady his seat.
The eastern man beat the lady to it.
The body will be shipped back east for burial.

A local Scotchman went to the box office at the Orpheum Theatre after the show on Saturday night. "Will ye kindly retain me the amount of the amusement tax," he asked.

"Why?" asked Mrs. Ptacek.

"I wanna amuse!" said the Scotchman.

Pat and The Army

An Englishman and a Scotchman were arguing about the army.

"In order for a man to be buried with full military honors, he must be a captain," said the Englishman.

"Or a general," said the Scotchman.

However, they called their friend Pat to solve it. "Well," said Pat, "you both are wrong. In order for a man in the army to be buried with full military honors, he must be dead."

"CONVOY" SHOWS EPIC NAVAL BATTLES

Dorothy Mackall, First National featured player, and Lawrence Gray have the leads in "Convoy," the feature at the Orpheum Theatre for Saturday, with an impressive supporting cast headed by Lowell Sherman, Buster Collier, Ian Keith, Gail Kane and Vincent Serrano. Eddie Gribbon and Jack Ackroyd have the comedy roles with Ione Holmes also featured in the list of supporting players.

The picture is based on a short story by John Taintor Foote, and deals with the navy's service in the world war.

Joe Boyle, assistant director of "Mare Nostrum," acted as director. Several exteriors for the film were made in Washington and during the stay in the Capitol, the picture unit was presented to President Coolidge. Interiors were shot at the Cosmopolitan studio, in New York.

Dealing also with the German system of espionage in the United States in 1917, the special made by Robert Kayne for First National release will bid for front rank in the epics of the great war, on the strength of some remarkable sequences of the navy's history making role in the conflict. The navy department co-operated with Mr. Kayne on the picture and several sensational scenes of actual naval battles have been included.

Canadian Engineers Coming Back

Engineers of outstanding ability, Canadian-trained, are looking towards the development of the industrial and natural resources of Canada so that they can come back. In fact, several prominent engineers have come back to Canada during the past few months.

An outstanding instance of this is Mr. D. McCall White, a Scotchman by birth, who, after serving as Vice-President and General Manager of the Cadillac Motor Company and more recently as Vice-President and General Manager of the Lafayette Motor Company, has announced his acceptance of an executive position with Brooks Steam Motors, Limited, whose President, Mr. O. J. Brooks, had searched the ranks of executives in Canada, the United States, England and Europe. One of the remarkable things regarding Mr. White's change from the conventional type of motor to steam is the fact that he started originally as a steam engineer, and it is undoubtedly affection for this first love which has induced him to give support to the manufacture of steam cars. Mr. White undoubtedly ranks with the foremost pioneers of the automotive industry.

Mr. White's first important experience in the designing of motor cars came during 1895 and 1907, when he was employed by the Daimler Motor Car Company as special designing engineer. Afterwards he went to Naples as General Manager of the Italian Company. After completing his work for the Daimler Company, Mr. White joined D. Napier and Son, Limited, of London, England, as Chief Engineer. Napier built the first six cylinder car in the world and it was Mr. White's job to design a car which would remain supreme in speed tests for two years.

That he succeeded in doing so during his connection with the Napier Company he designed three of the highest priced cars in Europe.

To many of the leading men in the industry, Mr. White's acceptance of steam as the logical method of transportation is significant of the change which is taking place in the industry itself. There are many today who wonder whether the genius which has gone into the making of the modern motor car has not been misapplied. Perhaps the situation was best summed up by O. J. Brooks, President of Brooks Steam Motors. "It would have been impossible for us to interest D. McCall White," he said, "had it not been for his early years of experience in the designing of steam engines for motor purposes and his long standing belief that steam is the ultimate power for road transportation. Mr. White foresees a future when steam engines will take the place of internal combustion engines for automobiles, buses, trucks, traction motor vehicles, etc."

And in connection with the appointment, too, Mr. Brooks made a significant statement. "I had the pleasure of riding with Mr. White at the rate of over fifty miles an hour in our newly developed bus," he said. "He was supremely delighted with its performance. After a thorough examination of the boiler and burner units and other features of its construction, he declared that the Brooks Steam Bus was in a class by itself, and so far superior in performance and long life that competitive products would make no showing against it."

In his connection with General Motors and as Chief Engineer of Cadillac Motors, Mr. D. McCall White met a great many of the younger generation of Canadian engineers drawing down very substantial salaries. "It is only natural for them to go where there is work for them to do," he explained, "and as soon as the present prosperous trend in Canada brings development work to the fore, you will find Canadian graduates flocking back again."

Announcement is also made by the same company, of the appointment of Mr. H. A. Oswald as Factory Manager. Mr. Oswald has been in the automobile business for a period of twenty years as an executive for some of the largest manufacturers in the States. He was born in Toronto, July 15th, 1890, where he spent his boyhood and received his education. Later he went through a post graduate course in mechanical engineering at the School of Science, Pottsdam, Pa., from which institution he received his degree of Technical Engineer.

Returning to Toronto, he served a six year apprenticeship at the James Morrison Brass Manufacturing Company, under the direction of his father, who was at that time General Manager of the Company, the oldest and largest brass company in Canada.

Another Canadian with quite a distinguished engineering career in the United States is also joining the same organization, in the person of Mr. J. Heber Coyne, B.Sc., who obtained his degree in electrical and mechanical engineering from the University of Toronto in 1905, and is a native of St. Thomas, Ontario. He has had a remarkable career as Chief Engineer in the development of the Knight Sleeve Valve Engine, and during the war, with the Packard Motor Company he had charge of design work of the Light Six and Liberty Aircraft Engine, and after that became a member of the Advisory Engineering Staff of General Motors.

He is a member of the Institution of Automobile Engineers of Great Britain and Society of Automobile Engineers of America.

Will Construct Seadromes

Landing Places for Aeroplanes to be Anchored in Atlantic Ocean

The Philadelphia Public Ledger says that announcement was made by Edward R. Armstrong, inventor, of Wilmington, Del., that work would be started within 60 days on a test "seadrome," or landing field to be anchored in the Atlantic Ocean as a station for trans-Atlantic aeroplanes.

Mr. Armstrong was quoted as having said that plans were under way for the formation of a trans-oceanic flying organization. He intimated this organization might be headed by Captain Charles A. Lindbergh.

The test seadrome, The Public Ledger says, will be about 150 feet square, and will be anchored at a point 500 miles slightly north and east of New York. It the test proves effective eight full size seadromes will be built, each 1,200 feet long, at a cost of $1,500,000 each.

Extended Period Of
Aviation Agreement

U.S. and Canadian Airmen Cross Border on Defined Conditions

The existing agreement between the United States and Canadian Governments by which aviators of either country may fly into the territory of the other under certain defined conditions has been extended until October 31. The extension of the agreement was accomplished by an exchange of notes between the State Department and the Canadian Legation.

The agreement has been in effect since 1922. It provides that when an American aviator desires to fly into Canada he shall give notice in advance to the secretary of the Canadian Air Board at Ottawa, giving the date of the proposed flight, the owner's name and address, the pilot's name and qualifications, the type of machine to be used, the route and duration of the flight, and the purpose for which it is to be undertaken. The procedure is the same for Canadian flyers desiring to visit the United States by air.

Recalls Romance of Boer War

Woman Despatch Rider Who Married British Colonel is Dead

By the death of Mrs. Catherine Vaughan, widow of Col. A. Owen Vaughan, of Dipsa Pools, near Cardiff, Wales, a remarkable romance of the Boer War is recalled. Mrs. Vaughan was a relative of President Kruger, was a skilled housewife, and acted as a despatch rider for the Boers. Col. Vaughan, then leading a Boer force as a captain, was attacking a British post when the young Afrikaner woman dashed out on horseback to bring aid to the beleaguered. As she refused to stop, Capt. Vaughan shot her horse and captured the despatch rider, whom, to his surprise, he found to be a woman. The acquaintance thus made led later to marriage. Col. Vaughan, who was better known as "Owen Rhoscomyl," a noted Welsh historian and novelist, died eight years ago.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PETER PREACHING TO GENTILES

Golden Text: "For there is no distinction between Jew and Greek; for the same Lord is Lord of all, and is rich unto all that call upon Him."—Romans 10:13.

Lesson, Acts, Chapters 10 and 11. Devotional Reading: Psalm 67:1-7.

Explanations and Comments

1. How a Gentile Was Prepared for Discipleship, verses 1-8.—Cornelius was a Roman centurion in command at Caesarea. One night he had a vision in which an angel said to him, "Cornelius, thy prayers and thine alms have gone up for a memorial before God."

Then the angel bade Cornelius to send to Joppa for Peter, who was staying with Simon the tanner by the seaside. Cornelius was a Gentile, and Jews would not enter the house of Gentiles. Yet Cornelius obeyed the command. He called two of his household servants and one of his soldiers, explained to them his vision, and sent them to Joppa.

Not a "Vanishing Race"

Indian Population in Western Canada Is About 35,000

From Ottawa comes the statement that the Indians are increasing in population. They are no longer a "vanishing race." In western Canada the total population today is about 35,000.

It is welcome news. We should wish the Indians well. These picturesque people form the genuine native race of North America. Descendants of ancient nomads who most probably entered the Western Hemisphere from the Orient across the strip of land that has now part of the Bering Straits, the famous redskins deserve the kindly fate which civilization has reserved for them.

An Old Chinese Custom

Remains of 400 Being Moved From Toronto for Ancestor Worship

The Chinese of Toronto are raising funds to exhume the remains of 400 Chinese buried in Ontario with a view to sending them to China for reburial there. Mr. Mark, of a Chinese publishing house, said that there would be at least 200 sent from Toronto, the entire cost being in the vicinity of $12,000.

"It is an old custom," said Mr. Mark, and was connected with ancestor worship, the Chinese believing in the worship of the elders of their family. They believed in the spirit, that the man by virtue of the skeleton was depicted in his identity as an individual being when alive with the exception that the flesh had been dissipated by the magic of death. They believed that the spirit lived on somewhere, possibly in the skeleton, possibly not. But the bones were needed to be moved so that the heirs in China could worship them. They had to be buried there for this.

In fact, this directory is accepted generally as a reliable source of information on "Canadian Publications" and is regularly consulted for Canadian geographical and statistical particulars twelve months in the year.

Washington.—The sound of a human heart beat was amplified ten trillion times before the American Medical association, meeting in convention here. This was the greatest sound amplification ever achieved in history.

Studying History
Of Canada

Knowledge of Dominion Best Equipment for Good Citizens

McGill University has decided to give a complete course in Canadian history to the first third in the record of that institution. The reason given for this is that the Department of History feels the necessity of allowing students a chance of obtaining a broad general knowledge of the history of the Dominion. The history of Canada will be a third year course, following a complete course on the history of the Western Hemisphere. It is destined to enable the student here to grasp trans-Atlantic conditions, the Faculty further states.

This is a step in the right direction, taken not before it was high time. These familiar with educational conditions in this country have often complained that students were taught far too little of general world history and geography, but surely it is the proper thing, and the right thing, for every student to know his own land first, and to know its history thoroughly. How otherwise can he fit himself adequately for the duties of citizenship and all they imply?

It is necessary to know what motives prompted the men who fought for freedom and liberty of ideas in the past in order to realize how Canada has grown to be what she is today. It is essential to have a clear conception of the ideal that lay behind the fight for Confederation in order to understand the problems this Dominion is facing today between East and West. A sound knowledge of one's own country is the best possible equipment for a citizen, whether he be engaged in a commercial or a professional career. McGill has moved wisely, and in the right direction, in this matter.

For Empire Unity

Premier Baldwin Says Empire is a Great Force for Righteousness

"We must devote our best energies in the years to come, Tory, Liberal and Labor alike, to make our unity such a reality that men and women will regard this Empire as one and it may become possible for them to move within its bounds to New Zealand, Australia, South Africa and Canada, as easily and freely as from Glasgow to London or from Bristol to Newcastle," Premier Stanley Baldwin declared in a Victoria Day address broadcast throughout England.

Mr. Baldwin appealed to all Britons to help make the Empire a great force for righteousness in the world. "The British Empire," he said, "is a spiritual inheritance which we hold in trust, not only for its members but for all the nations which surround it. Let us see to it that we hand it on to our successors with untarnished glory."

Bathrooms and cement are not symbols of prosperity; neither are palatial residences nor huge government buildings. For every million-dollar residence there will be a thousand hovels. It is the creation of wealth, not the hoarding of it, that brings prosperity to a nation.

The man to whom Graydon talked went over to the table where Eggleston sat, his head set well down into his shoulders. Other men stood at the table, too, important men they seemed, of the importance that is marked by large achievements. Among them was a noted sculptor. And an artist, and two or three famous architects.

On the massive table, between them and the banker, and where John's blueprint once had been spread by Joanna, a gleaming white model stood, the miniature of an imposing structure of great halls and marble columns reaching upward to a gold dome. Above the dome a figure poised, a slender figure that seemed to implore some ineffable joyousness. The sculptor, one whose name is far flung, passed his fingers lovingly over the delicate form destined later, to be translated into marble. This part of the model was his handiwork. He was proud of his association with the monumental structure. It was to embellish.

Eggleston, who had watched quietly, observed.

"That was her idea. She explained it to me across this table when she brought me the desk to your friend had been bothering her about. She said memorials ought to have life in them, instead of death." The banker chuckled, and the sternness in his eyes softened. "She said the usual kind of memorial always made her mad because they reminded her of so many people who weren't dead that ought to be!"

Foreman, chief of the firm which had sponsored John, broke in.

"So it was she, after all, who conceived the soldier as always stirred to valor by the kiss of a girl—or of a woman—who is still a girl to him? Yet you compelled me to get the conception across my desk to your friend as if it were, for a time, his fight against it. For me, but the grandeur of it came to him suddenly. Shall we tell him today?"

"No," Eggleston replied. "It will be sufficient for him to learn from us, that the money with which he has worked this model out, the funds that promoted his idealistic plan and translated his blueprint dream into this step toward reality, came from her—Joanna. And she used the money I gave her but

YOUNG WOMEN SUFFER MOST

These Two Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ayer's Cliff, Quebec.—"I have been teaching for three years, and at the end of the year always feel tired and have no appetite. I was a wretched sick case for months, too, with pains in my back until sometimes I was obliged to stop working. A friend recommended me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I heard many women telling how good it was. So I bought it and took it. And it did. Now I take six bottles every year and recommend it to others."—DONALD FAIRBANK, Ayer's Cliff, Quebec.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has been of great benefit to me, the troubles being completely relieved."—LAWA J. KAYNE, Canning, Nova Scotia.

spect, Joanna stood almost motionless, her face deathly white. Eggleston knelt at her and she saw that his eyes wandered from her face to the painting over her head, and then back again. At last, he said:

"Your money, my dear, was from me. It was I who was your mysterious benefactor, and it was I who determined that there should be no conditions attached to your gift. I wanted to know how you—a girl of today—would go; which way you would turn, if left to your own resources."

"It was because of a silly old man's romance—a romance of young days when, people have said, young girls were different. The one in the painting above you was she to whom I made my promise that I would make her happy and rich. She didn't live—even to marry me. So I've lived alone. The fortune came, but all that I've had of her is the memory. In the painting there."

"I've a lot of money, my dear; so have all my relatives. I've had the whim, in late years, to leave a great deal of it to someone who can carry on, when I'm done, for the girl up there who has carried on with me. It would cost me a million dollars, in fact, if you—any of you young people of these days. I admit I couldn't understand you. Your friend, and my friend, Graydon, told me I was a fool. He claimed to know you all—because he knew so many of you, in the story. He told me of you, a Miss Twenty-seven, who, he said, recalled to him the painting over my fireplace. Well—that's about all. We decided to try out—and we have. I thought it would cost me a million dollars, in fact, if I have profited, it has given me—if you will have it that way—yes! I know, now, that you carry on for her."

There was much more that Eggleston said; many things that quivered on his lips. Shadows and laughter and much of wonder moved in changing procession across the deep brown eyes of the girl who crumpled at his feet. But the things he said were the useless foolish things that people say when they have much to tell each other of themselves alone. When they spoke of anything else it was of the model on the table, and of how the money had been secretly spent at Joanna's request to make fulfillment of the promise of it.

Or of Brandon, and Yvonne.

"In a way of his own planning he only tested you, and it was with my encouragement," he said, with my encouragement. "He, like me, was skeptical. He professed to know you girls of today. He admits he didn't know you at all. I kept him from the secret of your use of your money. I allowed him to test you to the end."

"That was why, then," Joanna observed, "he threw me into the companionship of Yvonne? I've known there was a reason. I've wondered over it. I think she knew, for I've always realized she was leading me up to things, showing them to me, and then saying me from them."

He nodded gravely. "Yes," he mused; "I have the impression that one may be profoundly mistaken about many of the world's Yvonne constants."

Into the silence of the library the old butler intruded.

"Mr. Wilmore has come, sir."

Joanna, with a sudden catch at her breath, rose. For a moment she looked up into the face of the girl in the painting—the girl of yesterday.

"If you wouldn't mind," she said quietly, her face pale again, "I'd like to see him in here—alone!"

At the door Eggleston felt her hand on his arm. He saw that her color had come back into her face, and that she was smiling up to him. "It will be quite all right, won't it," she asked brightly, "if I ask you to share me, with him?"

There was instant stillness. All in the room looked inquiringly at the banker, who made a sign to Graydon. The butler went out. A moment later, Joanna, suddenly startled by the faces turned toward her, was framed in the doorway. Graydon went up to her and took her hand, gently, and led her into the room. He announced to the company, simply:

"This is Joanna!"

One by one the important seeming men pressed upon her. Dazed, bewildered, fighting for some inkling of understanding, she heard the murmur of words—words, words! Each man took her limp hand and pressed it and said to her—words! They congratulated her; they uttered earnest compliments; they uttered sensible things she couldn't fathom. And as each bowed and left her he passed out of the room until, at last, there were only Graydon, Brandon and Eggleston.

At Brandon's lips she saw the old smile hovering—the old smile, but different. And she saw the same lights in Eggleston's eyes she used to detect in them when they sat across the table together.

"Please!" she pleaded. "What does it all mean?"

Brandon faced her.

"My means," he said, "that things are going to be straightened out. For me, the best it means is that you are to know that both you and I were playing a game—and that, because you won, that night on La Turbie when I had the handkerchief thrust you back into the club-house, nobody is happier than I."

He left the room then, with Graydon, and Joanna faced her banker alone. Eggleston rose and walked around the table to where she stood, still gripped in the spell of her bewilderment.

He led her to the fireplace and, taking her by the shoulders, turned her around so that she faced him. Above her the canvas image of the girl in the gold frame looked down. The banker went back to his chair at the table. For a long time neither

She is the gifted producer of 351 eggs in 365 days, a world record, and the output of her genius sold so far has brought to the farm $1,625, while reservations totalling $1,275 lay on the books.

Maile presides over the world record pen, having for her associates four other hens, each of which has conferred on civilization at least 300 eggs in a year. Might Have Had Millions

Prospector Sold Rich Gold Mine in Australia for Thirty-five Pounds

Death has occurred at Port Adelaide, Australia, of a Fraserburgh native, James Henderson Cranna, who was for the irony of fate might have possessed world-famous gold mines.

In the early sixties he and Dan O'Leary, an adventurous Irishman, located goldfields of Mount Morgan, Queensland, but owing to financial straits sold out for £35. The mines have since produced £200,000 worth of the precious metal.

Cranna at 17 sailed for Australia in the 901 ton barque Scotia.

At Durban the crew were arrested on suspicion of smuggling and thrown into jail.

They received compensation for false imprisonment from the Natal authorities.

In 1861 they got to Australia and made for the bush, where they were lost for five days. The broiling sun caused such intense thirst that they killed opopuns and drank their fill.

After giving up hope they struck the Murray River, which meant life and civilization.

While bullock driving Cranna met O'Leary and they were the first to cross the continent of Australia from side to side in quest of gold, amid innumerable risks from water famine and murderous natives.

They located many fields which have since become the richest in the world, but always sold out for paltry sums to raise money, even selling their belongings for food.

Economy

Ole Olson had been working as an engine wiper, and his boss, a whiffy man, had been coaching him for promotion to fireman with such advice as:

"Now, Ole, don't waste a drop of oil—that costs money. And don't waste the waste, either—that's getting expensive, too."

When Ole went up to be questioned on his eligibility for an engine man he was asked:

"Suppose you are on your engine on a single track. You are going round a curve, and you see rushing toward you an express. What would you do?"

To which Ole replied:

"I grab the oil-can; I grab the waste—and I jump!"

PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT
WILL HELP TOWN HIGHWAYS

Towns and villages along the main highways throughout Alberta will have an opportunity to put those portions of the roads within their bounds in good condition, if they will undertake to pay half the cost. The provincial government has decided on a fifty-fifty proposition that contemplates connecting up all the now uncompleted gaps in the main highway system lying inside urban limits.

A total mileage of about 150 miles will be involved if all the towns and villages accept the government's offer, and the aggregate cost will probably run to $600,000 or more, of which the public treasury will assume one-half. In addition, the government will provide engineering supervision.

The Edmonton-Calgary road and south to Lethbridge, the Crows' Nest and east and west roads, including the main highway from Edmonton to Lloydminster and west to the Jasper route, will come under the new improvement scheme, and the government is inviting the towns and villages on those highways to say whether or not they wish to take advantage of its offer.
